

- In a dark void. A god-like entity created a samurai and a magician from the palms of her hand
- The two adventurers bow down to her.
- The entity then tasks the two adventurers to find a cube.
- The two adventurers nod and leave
- Moments later, The two adventurers travel around an empty desert with no plants, no animals. Nothing
- The samurai begins to get tired and he falls
- The magician notices. She walks back towards the samurai to help him get up.
- They both press on
- Several moments have passed, they finally found the cube floating in the middle of the desert.
- They quickly run towards it
- They both are in awe. As the samurai tries to grab the cube, he notices that the magician also grabbed it
- They both pull the cube but it won't budge.
- They decide to duel by standing from afar and waiting for one of them to begin.
- They fight and fight.
- Samurai won.
- He smiles. But as he looks back, he notices the Magician is bleeding and lying on the ground
- Samurai's smile fades and he quickly runs towards her.
- His face is etched by guilt as he holds her in his arm.
- Magician then uses her last power to retract the cube and gives it to Samurai.
- Samurai grabs the blood-covered cube in agony.
- Several moments later, Samurai arrives in the dark void to give the cube to the mother
- Instead of being happy, he showed sadness and remorse.
