

I woke up to find myself in darkness

hello, is anyone there?

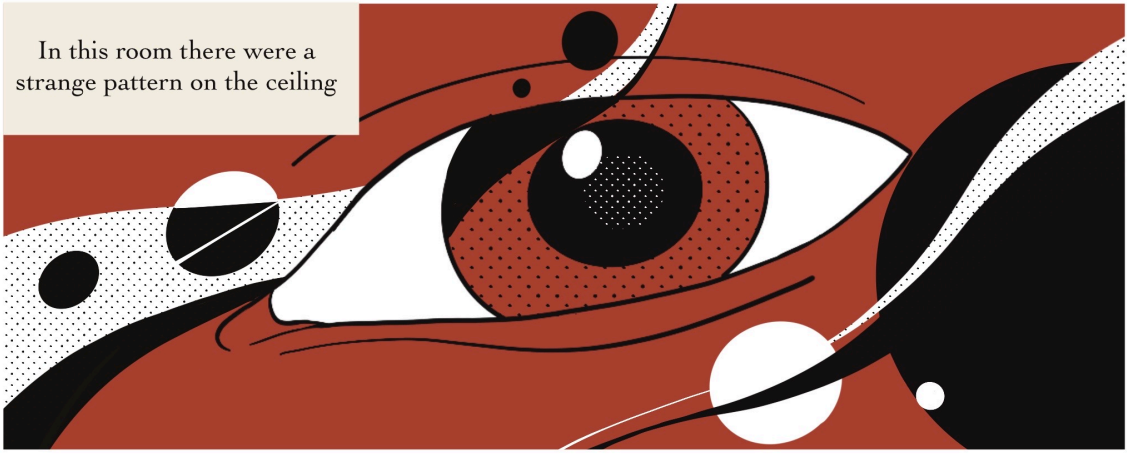

can anyone hear me?

then a bright light...

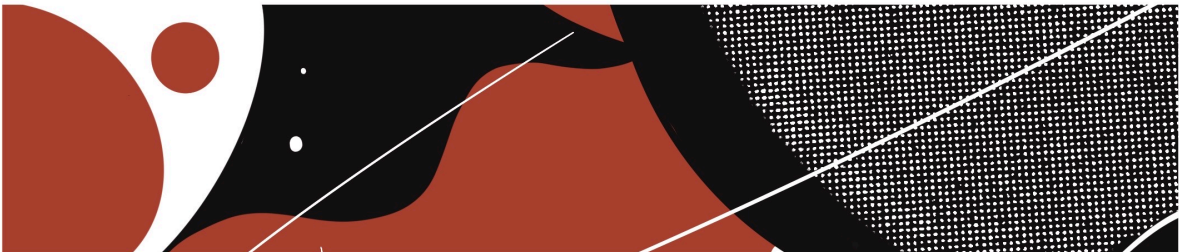

I looked around and found myself in a strange place...

In this room there were a strange pattern on the ceiling everything floating in the air and made up of only three colors

also with these polkas

Hello, is anyone here? Hello?

Hello!

Oh hi... excuse me, where are you?
I can't see you

I'm sorry, but I'm afraid you can only hear my voice. I can't be seen in front of others

So in the following period of time, I began to explore the paradise

First thing I know is that the place is closed, there are no doors or windows, although it seems endless,once you walk a certain distance there is a transparent wall to stop you going forward.

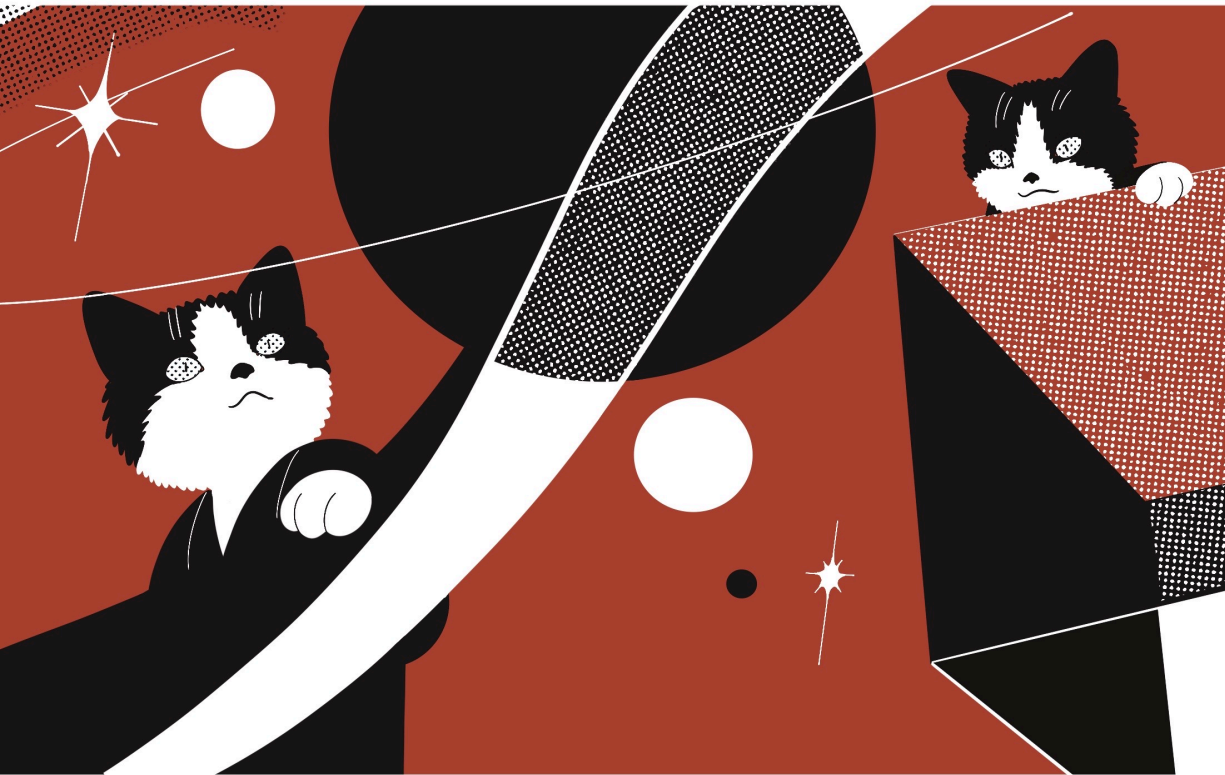

Hello... anyone can hear me?

Hi, I'm back

Finally, time seems to stand still here, I can't feel hungry, sleepy, and things around me are not change at all

Secondly, the room seems to have certain lighting time. Sometimes there are just in darkness and the voice would disappear .

Excuse me...

I don't know how long it was, life here is monotonous and boring, I feel like I am about to be driven crazy

Until I found a way to climb the highest square

I saw a book, it looks normal
but I still saw the name

Circular paradise ✦

Driven by curiosity, I opened the book,
it was a comic book

On the first page, there is a red room and everything made up of three colors with some polkas.

Then I saw a little character, he seemed to see me. And I heard him say

Hello, is anyone there?